

The season is over for this team, but next year's team already has started working toward making it back-to-back championships.

For some of the girls, however, it's time to move on as they're nearing graduation. They couldn't have picked a better way to end their careers in the program.

"It was our last time doing it, so we tried to make it the best," said Hall, a senior at Northern. "It was a great way to end the year."
